

2008 Château Montelena Chardonnay

The folks of "Bottle Shock" are looking for a place on your Thanksgiving table and it's with Chardonnay at its best. The appeal is purity of fruit and here is Napa Chardonnay as honestly as they make it. With honey and pear nuances, a slight hint of nectarine, and a gentle oak influence combining as one without any particular nuance dominating. It is why this wine reflects serious winemaking and a true reminder of what Montelena is all about. $44.99

2009 Uccelliera Rosso di Montalcino

The elegance of the wines from Montalcino cannot be denied. While often attaining cult status in the form of the legendary Brunello di Montalcino there is a more affordable way to enjoy Tuscany's beloved Sangiovese grape. Rosso di Montalcino is a mini Brunello - essentially the same wine with less barrel ageing. The '09 Rosso from Uccelliera is as beautiful and luxurious as a wine can be for this price. Silky & bursting with red fruit, it is a glorious middle course wine for the Thanksgiving table. $22.99

Harvest & Hospitality Since 1933

2010 The Prisoner

If your Thanksgiving wine service is centered on wines of graduating intensity then here is your end game. With a hefty personality, winemaker David Phinney's The Prisoner is boldness in a bottle. With a cepage of 44% Zin, 26% Cab, 18% Syrah, 9% Petite Syrah, 2% Charbono and 1% Grenache, it is well tuned for that second helping of sweet potato, dark meat and gravy. Once again, another fine effort from Mr. Phinney. $39.99

2009 Brewer-Clifton Mt. Carmel Pinot Noir

The shining star of the Brewer-Clifton portfolio, Mt. Carmel Pinot Noir immediately gains notice with its opulent personality. A perfect call for the Thanksgiving table, it delivers a flavor packed sweep across the palate and follows with a spice and blackfruit finish. The efforts of Greg Brewer and Steve Clifton have put the winemaking of the Santa Rita Hills on the map. Experience it first hand to see what the buzz is all about. $51.99
